OPINIONS OF SCHOLARS.

GEORGE GROTE, Esq.

"I willingly bear testimony to the great value of your Dictionary of Classical Antiquities, of Greek and Roman Biography and Mythology, and of Greek and Roman Geography. I have had frequent occasion to consult these works, and have derived from them great assistance and instruction. I think you have performed the editorial duty in a manner highly creditable and successful."

REV. W. H. THOMPSON, M.A.,
Master of Trinity College, Cambridge.

"In common with all scholars of my acquaintance, I consider myself under great obligations to you for the zeal and diligence with which you have performed your editorial task in completing your three very important Dictionaries. They contain a large proportion of most able articles, and must contribute in no mean degree to raise and sustain the character of English scholarship. It is obvious that no scholar's library can pretend to be complete without them."

REV. DR. VAUGHAN,
Late Head Master of Harrow School.

"I have much pleasure in expressing my sense of the invaluable services rendered to the cause of Greek and Latin literature, and of classical education generally, by the great and laborious works of Dr. William Smith, which are extensively used, and with great profit, at Harrow, as in all the public schools of England."

REV. E. C. HAWTREY, D.D.,
Late Head Master of Eton College.

"I am extremely glad of the opportunity of expressing to you the strong sense of obligation which I, in common with all teachers and lovers of classical literature, feel to you for your admirable Dictionaries, published wholly under your superintendence, and in a great degree by your personal contributions. Hardly a day passes in which I do not consult them, and never without finding all I want, and often much more than I thought was attainable."

NEW WORKS AND NEW EDITIONS.

NIEBUHR'S LECTURES ON THE HISTORY OF ROME, from the Earliest Times to the Fall of the Western Empire. By Dr. LEONHARD SCHMITZ. A New and very Cheap Edition, carefully reprinted from the Second English Edition. Complete in One Volume. Sm. 8vo. (800 pp.) 7s. 6d. cl. [In November.

* The Second English Edition of Niebuhr's Lectures on Roman History contained every word and statement to be found in the German Edition of Dr. Isler, with which it was compared throughout. But as Dr. Schmitz, in preparing his edition, was in possession of some valuable sets of MS. Notes, which were inaccessible to Dr. Isler, his work contains a variety of remarks and observations as made by Niebuhr, which do not occur in the German Edition, or any mere translation of the German. Almost every page contains some interesting remark of the Roman historian, which is not to be found in the German Edition.

For the Oxford and Cambridge (Middle Class), University of London, Civil Service, and other Examinations.

A SYNOPSIS HISTORY OF ENGLAND, combining the advantages of the Narrative and Tabular Form; together with a Comparative View of Contemporaneous Sovereigns, and Events in General History, from the Earliest Records to the Present Time. Oblong 8vo., 7s. 6d., cloth.

"The arrangement is such as to make even the study of dry details attractive... By its use the student can soon make headway; and what is more, this method of imparting knowledge is eminently calculated to fix it in the memory. The work before us is, we confidently believe, just the thing that has been wanted. It is sufficiently elaborate, and sufficiently terse.—Civil Service Gazette.

"His exposition of facts is clear and animated, without affectation or irrelevant comments, and his social and legal summaries are readable condensations of the results of modern research. We do not know of any single volume in which the student may so pleasantly attain to an intelligent knowledge of the leading points of the History of England down to the close of the reign of the First Edward.—Spectator.

CHAMBERS'S ENCYCLOPÆDIA,

A

DICTIONARY OF UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE FOR THE PEOPLE.

THIS important and elaborate work, complete in Ten volumes, contains 27,170 distinct articles, 3400 Wood Engravings, and 39 Maps, beautifully printed in colours. The INDEX of Subjects not having headings of their own in the Work is comprehensive and exhaustive, containing some 17,000 references. It includes every subject of any importance that has been incidentally mentioned in the ENCYCLOPÆDIA, and thus materially contributes towards rendering the Work—as was originally intended—

A DICTIONARY OF UNIVERSAL INFORMATION.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"Nothing is omitted; but everything is reduced to the smallest dimensions compatible with lucidity. . . . We can only in general terms very heartily commend this last and greatest achievement of the Messrs. Chambers, in providing 'information for the people,' as almost without defect."—British Quarterly Review.

"A more useful, concise, and correct compendium of universal knowledge it is impossible to conceive."—Scotsman.

"A compendium of learned and curious matter widely varied. . . . The work he (the Editor) superintends is becoming a treasury in which such mites of learning brought together, form the wealth."—Blackwood's Magazine.

"The work before us may be safely pronounced a very satisfactory production. It is not to be supposed that we have had the time necessary to acquaint ourselves with a tithe of the contents of the ten handsome super-royal octavo volumes of which it consists. But we have done our best to submit them to the test of a very searching scrutiny in several distinct branches of learning. Is our object ethnographical or geographical information—we have here afforded to us the most 'extended' range of 'observation,' and, literally, by the aid of the admirable maps scattered up and down these volumes, we can 'survey mankind from China to Peru.' . . . When we have said that the entire Cyclopædia of Messrs. Chambers is equal in bulk to about half of The Penny Cyclopædia, our readers will easily infer that it is indeed a perfect store-house of useful information. In short, there is no branch of information on which it may not be consulted with advantage by the worker or the general reader."—Times.

"We have not once in an hour's 'dodging' among the miscellaneous work failed to find the answer to the question proposed—after all, the most popular and most trying test of an encyclopædia. We are, moreover, assured on high professional authority that the papers on medicine, anatomy, and physiology are models of accurate condensation, contain 'quite as much as outsiders can have any need to know;' . . . and we can say for ourselves that the accounts of oriental creeds are, considering their length, very remarkable essays, conveying much information which to the majority of Englishmen will be absolutely new."—Spectator.

BELL AND DALDY.

Plantus, Aulularia. With Notes, Critical, and Exegetical, and an Introduction on Plantian Prosody. By W. WAGNER, Ph.D. 8vo. 9s.

"The exegetical commentary is distinguished by the same high qualities as the introduction, and the two form a most valuable contribution to recent scholarship. It would, indeed, be difficult to exaggerate the worth of such works as these."—Reader.

Plato's Apology of Socrates and Crito, with Notes Critical and Exegetical, Introductory Notes, and a Logical Analysis of the Apology. By WILHELM WAGNER, Ph.D. Small 8vo. 4s. 6d.

"Dr. Wagner, who has already established his reputation in England by an edition of the 'Aulularia of Plantus,' and by a more recent edition of 'Terence,' has now produced a commentary on the 'Apology' and 'Crito,' which deserves the attention of English scholars, and the special gratitude of English schoolmasters."—Cambridge University Gazette.

Terence. With Notes Critical and Explanatory. By WILHELM WAGNER, Ph.D. Post 8vo. 10s. 6d.

"Dr. Wagner's edition of 'Terence,' though elegantly got up, is quite unpretending in size and appearance, and yet we are much mistaken if it does not hasten on and greatly contribute to that more thorough study of the earlier Latin poetry, of which we can perceive many signs here, as well as in Germany, and even France."—Cambridge University Gazette.

Theocritus. With short Critical and Explanatory Notes. By F. A. PALEY. Second Edition, corrected and enlarged, and containing the newly discovered Idyll. Small 8vo. 4s. 6d. [Just published.]

Verse by C. S. CALVERLEY, late Fellow of Christ's College, Author of "Translations into English and Latin." Small 8vo. 7s. 6d.

"As we turn over his pages, we meet at odd corners little features and touches that remind us of his earlier poems and translations, and recognise sparks of the same happy humour and perception which at once gave him a rank above mere translators. We felicitate the reading public upon having gained a new version of him by a ripe scholar and a poet of a curiously congenial taste for scenery and word-painting."—Saturday Review.

NOTES and QUERIES. New Series.

ADDRESS.

Through the dictum of a friendly French critic, that Notes and Queries is "presque aussi connue dans son genre, et presque aussi répandue que le Times et le Punch," goes a little beyond the mark, it is, unquestionably, so far true that Notes and Queries has become an institution with a large class not only of professed students and men of letters, but of intelligent readers, who avail themselves of its columns to seek such notes and explanations as are from time to time wanted, even by those who are best informed.

If it were permitted to lift the veil, and show what eminent scholars have sought information through Notes and Queries, and what men no less eminent have furnished, it would be seen that this is no empty boast.

Notes and Queries, which was established on November 3rd, 1849, for the purpose of furnishing to all lovers of literature a common-place book, in which they might, on the one hand, record for their own use and the use of others those minute facts—those elucidations of a doubtful phrase or disputed passage—those illustrations of an obsolete custom, those scattered biographical anecdotes or unrecorded dates—which all who read occasionally stumble upon; and, on the other, of supplying a medium through which they might address those queries, by which the best informed are sometimes arrested, in the midst of their labours, in the hope of receiving solutions of them from some of their brethren, is now to be found in the library of nearly every club and literary institution, and in the hands of nearly every book-loving man, and is widely circulated in our colonies and on the Continent.

For twenty years Notes and Queries has gone steadily increasing in circulation, usefulness, and the number and importance of its contributors; and speaking now from such experience, it may unhesitatingly be affirmed that the fourth series fully equals any of its predecessors both in interest and value, and in its claim to the attention of intelligent readers, as well as professed lovers of literature.

NOTES and QUERIES is published every Saturday, price 4d., stamped 5d., by W. G. SMITH, 43, Wellington Street, Strand, and by order of all booksellers and newsmen.

SOPHOCLES TRAGOEDIAE,

Edited by R. C. JEBB, M.A., Fellow and Assistant Tutor of Trinity College, Cambridge.

Part I. The Electra. 3s. 6d. Part II. The Ajax. 3s. 6d.

'Of Mr. Jebb's scholarly edition of the "Electra" of Sophocles we cannot speak too highly. The whole Play bears evidence of the taste, learning, and fine scholarship of its able editor. Illustrations drawn from the literature of the Continent as well as of England, and the researches of the highest classical authorities are embodied in the notes, which are brief, clear, and always to the point.'—London Review.
'The Introduction proves that Mr. Jebb is something more than a mere scholar,—a man of real taste and feeling. His criticism upon Schlegel's remarks on the Electra are, we believe, new, and certainly just.'—Westminster Review.

JUVENALIS SATIRAE,

Edited by G. A. SIMCOX, M.A., Fellow and Classical Lecturer of Queen's College, Oxford.

Thirteen Satires. 3s. 6d.

'Of Mr. Simcox's "Juvenal" we can only speak in terms of the highest commendation, as a simple, unpretending work, admirably adapted to the wants of the school-boy or of a college pass-man. It is clear, concise, and scrupulously honest in shirking no real difficulty. The pointed epigrammatic hits of the satirist are everywhere well brought out, and the notes really are what they profess to be, explanatory in the best sense of the term.'—London Review.

THUCYDIDIS HISTORIA,

Edited by CHARLES BIGG, M.A., late Senior Student and Tutor of Christ Church, Oxford. Second

Classical Master of Cheltenham College.

Vol. I. Books I. and II., with Introductions. 6s.

'Mr. Bigg in his "Thucydides" prefixes an analysis to each book, and an admirable introduction to the whole work, containing full information as to all that is known or related of Thucydides, and the date at which he wrote, followed by a very masterly critique on some of his characteristics as a writer.'—Athenæum.

DEMOSTHENIS ORATIONES PUBLICAE,

Edited by G. H. HESLOP, M.A., late Fellow and Assistant Tutor of Queen's College, Oxford.

Head Master of St. Bees.

Parts I. and II. The Olynthiacs and the Philippics. 4s. 6d.

'The annotations are scarcely less to be commended for the exclusion of superfluous matter than for the excellence of what is supplied. Well-known works are not quoted, but simply referred to, and information which ought to have been previously acquired is omitted.'—Athenæum.

ARISTOPHANIS COMOEDIAE,

Edited by W. C. GREEN, M.A., late Fellow of King's College, Cambridge. Classical Lecturer at Queen's College.

Part I. The Acharnians and the Knights. 4s. Part II. The Clouds. 3s. 6d.

Part III. The Wasps. 3s. 6d.

'The utmost care has been taken with this edition of the most sarcastic and clever of the old Greek dramatists.'—Bell's Weekly Messenger.

ISOCRATIS ORATIONES,

Edited by JOHN EDWIN SANDYS, B.A., Fellow and Lecturer of St. John's College, and Lecturer at Jesus College, Cambridge.

Part I. Ad Demonicum et Panegyricus. 4s. 6d.

'Isocrates has not received the attention to which the simplicity of his style and the purity of his Attic language entitle him as a means of education. Now that we have so admirable an edition of two of his Works best adapted for such a purpose, there will no longer be any excuse for this neglect. For carefulness and thoroughness of editing, it will bear comparison with the best, whether English or foreign. Besides an ample supply of exhaustive notes of rare excellence, we find in it valuable remarks on the style of Isocrates and the state of the text, a table of various readings, a list of editions, and a special introduction to each piece. As in other editions of this series, short summaries of the argument are inserted in suitable places, and will be found of great service to the student. The commentary embraces explanations of difficult passages, with instructive remarks on grammatical usages, and the derivation and meanings of words illustrated by quotations and references.'—Athenæum.

A PERSII FLACCI SATIRARUM LIBER,

Edited by A. PRETOR, M.A., of Trinity College, Cambridge, Classical Lecturer of Trinity Hall. 3s. 6d.

'This is one of the ablest editions published in the Catena Classicorum under the superintendence of Mr. Holmes and Mr. Bigg. Mr. Pretor has adopted in his edition a plan which he defends on a general principle, but which has really its true defence in the special peculiarities of his author. Mr. Pretor has given his readers translations of almost all the difficult passages. We think he has done so wisely in this case; for the allusions and constructions are so obscure that help is absolutely necessary. He has also been particularly full in his notes. He has thought and written with great independence. He has used every means to get at the meaning of his author. He has gone to many sources for illustration. And altogether he has produced what we may fairly regard as the best edition of Persius in English.'—Museum.

SELECTIONS FROM MODERN FRENCH AUTHORS,

With English Notes. By HENRI VAN LAUN, French Master at Cheltenham College. Crown 8vo.

Part I. Honoré de Balzac. 3s. 6d.

'This selection answers to the requirements expressed by Mr. Lowe in one of his speeches on education, where he recommended that boys should be attracted to the study of French by means of its lighter literature. M. van Laun has executed the task of selection with excellent taste. The episodes he has chosen from the vast "Human Comedy" are naturally such as do not deal with passions and experiences that are proper to mature age. Even thus limited, he had an overwhelming variety of materials to choose from; and his selection gives a fair impression of the terrible power of this wonderful writer, the study of whom is one of the most important means of self-education open to a cultivated man in the nineteenth century.'—Pall Mall Gazette.

ARITHMETIC, THEORETICAL AND PRACTICAL,

Adapted for the use of Colleges and Schools. By W. H. GIRDLESTONE, M.A., of Christ College, Cambridge, Principal of the Theological College, Gloucester. Second Edition, revised and enlarged. Crown 8vo.

'We congratulate Mr. Girdlestone on having produced a thoroughly philosophical book on this most useful subject. It appears to be especially suited for older students, who, having been taught imperfectly and irrationally in the earlier part of their school career, desire to go over the whole ground again from the beginning; but in the hands of an intelligent and discriminating teacher it may also be perfectly adapted to the comprehension of young boys.'—Times.
